

Call for Papers – EUGEO 2025

Geographies of a Changing Europe

Monday – Thursday, 8 – 11 September 2025

Austrian Academy of Sciences, Vienna

The Call for Papers for the 10th EUGEO Congress 2025 opens on November 29, 2024! We warmly invite scholars from across Europe and beyond to submit their paper to one of the available sessions. The congress theme, “Geographies of a Changing Europe” explores the dynamic transformations shaping our continent, its landscapes, and its societies, offering a platform for diverse theoretical, methodological, and empirical perspectives in geography. The congress will take place at the Austrian Academy of Sciences in Vienna from 8 to 11 September 2025.

Sessions will be 1.5 hours long, accommodating 4 papers. Session chairs will be responsible for reviewing the papers submitted to their sessions, managing their session’s time effectively, and ensuring a smooth flow of presentations. Session chairs are also encouraged to circulate the Call for Papers within their networks to ensure broad participation and diverse contributions.

Paper submissions should contain a provisional title and a short summary (350 words) explaining the research question, the theoretical and methodological approach and, where applicable, the data used. Papers should reflect the theme of the selected session and include 3–5 keywords to highlight key aspects of the research.

How to Submit Your Paper:

1. Visit the conference website (<https://www.eugeo2025.eu/eugeo-2025-sessions/>) to explore the list of sessions and their topics.
2. Choose the session that best matches your research.
3. Submit your abstract via ConfTool (<https://www.conftool.org/eugeo2025/>) in the selected session, including keywords and other required information.

The submission portal will be open from 29 November 2024 until 20 January 2025. All abstracts will be reviewed by the session chairs. Authors will receive feedback and decisions by mid-February 2025.

We look forward to your contributions to what promises to be an engaging and inspiring congress!
